Deuteronomy 33:25

October 1, 2024

Honestly I dislike shopping for clothes. Looking for a suit would rank right up there with a root canal or something. As far as the pleasure factor is, I'd say. The problem is that they just don't have suits for guys who are shaped like me. Maybe there just aren't many guys who are shaped like me; maybe that's the problem.

See, if the coat looks good on me, then the pants don't. If the waist is a good fit, then they're baggy in the back. If it fits well in the back, then the waist is tight enough to affect my respiration. Now, there is a way to get a perfect fit—it's called custom tailoring, I can't afford that, so I guess I'm just going to have to stick to one size that's supposed to fit all bodies about that shape. There is a perfect fit that you need right now and so do I, and it's yours for free.

I'm Ron Hutchcraft and I want to have A WORD WITH YOU today about “Grace for Every Need.”

Our word for today from the Word of God, Deuteronomy chapter 33, verse 25; six words full of encouragement. “Your strength will equal your days.” That's just six words, but it says so much about the need, the crisis, the crunch, and the unanswered question that you may be facing right now. God promises strength that is custom tailored for what that day requires; no more strength than you'll need for that day, and no less strength than you'll need for that day.

It's the same kind of promise that He gave in 2 Corinthians 12:9 where He says, “My grace is sufficient for you.” Sufficient grace—always grace enough. We've sung the hymn many times about God's amazing grace, and it is amazing. It reaches down, forgives every sin, and gives me a royal place in God's family. But His grace is the gift that keeps on giving.

Gary's company was on the edge of bankruptcy. I called him and I said, “How are you holding up with everything that you've built at risk?” He said, “You know what? God's peace is making it.” I talked to some friends not long ago who lost a loved one in a tragic auto accident, and here was their report, “God's promises are holding us up. He is enough.” Yeah, He is.

The wonderful truth in scripture is this, that God gives grace customized for every experience that He sends or He allows in your life. There is dying grace; you say, “I don't know how I would ever handle dying.” Well, of course, you're not doing it now; you don't need it now. But haven't you seen people with dying grace? You get it when you need it.

There's suffering grace. For whatever suffering may be ahead, God will give you grace to meet that challenge. There's lonely grace for lonely times in your life. There's heartbreak grace. You don't have it now unless you need it, but at the time the heartbreak comes, the grace comes. There's waiting grace if you're having to wait for God to act in your life. You don't have it until you need it. When you need it, you've got it.

Maybe you fear your ability to handle some situation right now, but just when you need it, grace will fill your heart; grace that's designed just to fit that moment. Grace may come in the form of a person, or surprising inner strength, a Bible verse, an ability to release something you've held for so long, but the grace is there if you go get it. Boldly, the Bible says, go to the throne of grace and obtain it there.

God has measured the situation like a spiritual tailor, and He has fitted His grace exactly to your need—custom-tailored designer grace to cover you.
